A Report on Felony Crime in the District of Columbia for 2018

December 31, 2019

GOVERNMENT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
Executive Office of Mayor Muriel Bowser

Office of the Deputy City Administrator and Deputy Mayor for Public Safety & Justice

December 31, 2019

This report, prepared by the Office of the Deputy Mayor for Public Safety and Justice, analyzes felony crime data for events in the District of Columbia that occurred between January 1 and December 31, 2018, and is issued pursuant to Section 210 of the Neighborhood Engagement Achieves Results Amendment Act of 2016, effective June 30, 2016 (D.C. Law 21-125; D.C. Official Code § 1-301.191(c)(6)).

Specifically, this report details the type, frequency, and location of felony crime incidents; felony arrests; D.C. Superior Court cases; sentences imposed for felony convictions; and demographic characteristics of felony crime victims and people arrested on felony charges.

I am proud to report that 2018 was one of the safest years in the District's history. The District experienced a seven percent drop in violent crime compared to the previous year, and a 28 percent drop compared to 2016. Thanks to the hard work of the Metropolitan Police Department, we experienced a seven percent citywide reduction in robberies, with five out of seven police districts seeing drops as well – ranging from a 15 percent reduction in the Seventh District to a four percent reduction in the Fourth District. Assaults with a dangerous weapon had a ten percent citywide reduction, with six out of seven police districts experiencing decreases, including a 21 percent decrease in the Fourth District and a 20 percent decrease in the First District. Unfortunately homicides increased three percent, affecting almost all police districts. Property crimes also increased three percent, driven by increases in the Second, Third, Fourth, and Fifth Districts. Despite this increase, burglaries decreased eight percent. In fact, between the end of 2015 and the end of 2018, burglaries citywide dropped 44 percent. Likewise, robberies citywide were reduced 40 percent in that same time period.

We are grateful to the work of our law enforcement agencies, their dedicated officers and civilian staff, and the community partnerships they have developed in each of our neighborhoods. But, the reductions in crime are not due to police work alone. The Bowser Administration has focused extensive resources on improving economic and educational opportunities, access to mental and behavioral health services, affordable and stable housing, and creating better pathways for our returning citizens.

Thank you for your continued support to ensure our city is safer across all eight wards.

Sincerely,

Kevin Donahue
Deputy Mayor

1. Introduction

This report, prepared by the Office of the Deputy Mayor for Public Safety and Justice, analyzes felony crime data for events in the District of Columbia that occurred between January 1 and December 31, 2018,¹ pursuant to Section 210 of the Neighborhood Engagement Achieves Results Amendment Act of 2016, effective June 30, 2016 (D.C. Law 21-125; D.C. Official Code § 1-301.191(c)(6)), hereafter referred to as the NEAR Act. Specifically, this report details the type, frequency, and location of felony crime incidents; felony arrests; D.C. Superior Court cases; sentences imposed for felony convictions; and demographic characteristics of felony crime victims and people arrested on felony charges.²

¹ Building on our work last year, our federal and local partners were able to quickly provide the data from this report in December 2019. We thank them for their help.

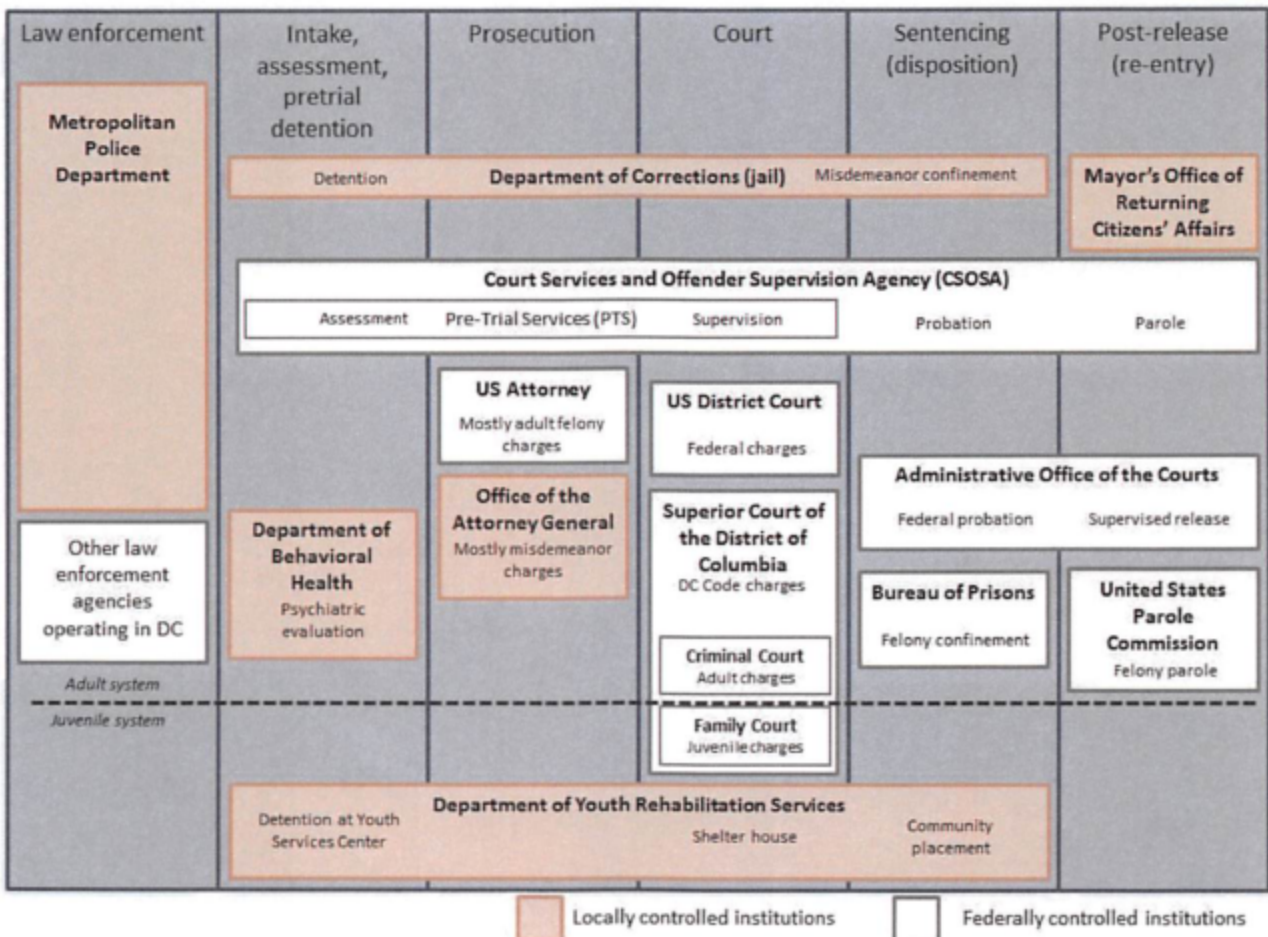

² Appendix A provides an index of the D.C. Code requirements for this data analysis and where they can be found in this report.

2. Data sources and limitations

The District of Columbia's unique criminal justice system includes a variety of federal and local entities, some of which report to the Mayor or the District's Attorney General, others to the President or the U.S. Attorney General, and others to the Chief Judge of the Superior Court of the District of Columbia (see Figure 1). This disparate collection of entities makes gathering data for this report difficult, as their respective data management systems were not originally designed to communicate with one another, nor were they designed for statistical reporting at a system-wide level.

However, building on our work to craft appropriate data sharing agreements last year, it was much easier to gather the data for this year's report. Moreover, our partner entities mostly returned data sets in the same format as last year, making it easy to reuse the same extracting, cleaning, and linking code from last year.

This report leverages information and records from four entities:

- (1) The Metropolitan Police Department (MPD), which provided MPD felony crime incident and felony arrest data (this excludes sealed or expunged cases, as well as those handled by law enforcement agencies in the District of Columbia other than MPD);
- (2) The Superior Court of the District of Columbia, which provided records of all misdemeanor and felony charges filed in criminal court;
- (3) The District of Columbia Sentencing Commission, which provided data on the sentences imposed for felony charge convictions; and
- (4) The Department of Behavioral Health (DBH), which provided records of contacts between DBH service providers and people arrested for felony crimes.

The data lifecycle of a crime begins when an MPD officer completes a digital police report in response to a reported or observed crime incident. Each crime incident is uniquely identified in the police report by a Criminal Complaint Number (CCN) and a single CCN may include one or more offenses. For example, a robbery that also resulted in a homicide could be part of the same crime incident and have the same CCN. A crime incident can have one or several victims and/or suspects. Crime events may or may not result in arrests, and arrests may occur shortly after the crime event or substantially later in time.

Each person who is arrested is identified by a unique Police Department Identification Number (PDID). Within a given arrest, the suspect—or multiple suspects—can be charged with one or multiple offenses. For example, if a suspect is arrested for a robbery that resulted in a homicide, the suspect would have one arrest number and two charges within that arrest (namely, robbery and homicide). And multiple people might be arrested for the same crime event. Therefore, the total number of felony arrests is not a direct reflection of the total number of crime incidents, since not all crime incidents result in an arrest and multiple people can be arrested in association with the same crime incident.

For the purposes of this report, the structure of the MPD crime incident data is organized by the most serious (or “top”) offense within a crime incident, which is a traditional practice in law enforcement. To put that differently, all unique CCNs are represented, but only the top felony offense within the CCN is presented in the crime incident data. For example, a robbery that resulted in a homicide would show up as a homicide event. The MPD arrest data, in contrast, does contain all charge data but, for consistency, we focus on top charges here as well. Recall both datasets – the arrest data and the crime incident data – are restricted only to felonies. If an event entailed only misdemeanor offenses, it is outside the scope of this report’s data sets and analysis. Additionally, if an offense may be classified as either a felony or a misdemeanor depending on specific factors such as the type of drug, seriousness of injury, or amount of damage, it too is outside the scope of this report’s data and analysis.

Once an individual is arrested and charged with a crime, a prosecutor must decide whether to prosecute that person in court. There are two prosecutorial authorities in the District. The Office of the Attorney General (OAG) is generally responsible for prosecuting select misdemeanors and juvenile crimes that are violations of the D.C. Code, whereas the United States Attorney’s Office (USAO) is generally responsible for prosecuting all felony violations and select misdemeanor violations of the D.C. Code. Most of these cases are filed in the D.C. Superior Court. Violations of federal law would be prosecuted by the USAO in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia.

The prosecutor may decide not to prosecute a case or a charge at all, which is referred to as “no-papering.” Once charges are filed in the D.C. Superior Court, the court creates a unique case number and the case is categorized as a felony³ or misdemeanor⁴ case. Each charge against the defendant is recorded separately, although multiple charges resulting from one incident are often tried together under a single case. Note that only cases themselves, not individual charges, are noted in the court data as felony or misdemeanor cases.

Also of interest to us, though, are basic statistics such as the number of people arrested for felony crimes in 2018, the number of felony cases filed in Superior Court in 2018, and the sentences imposed for convictions that were sentenced in 2018. Please note that some of these court cases and the sentences imposed were for arrests that occurred prior to 2018.

To describe sentences imposed during 2018, we used publicly available data from the D.C. Sentencing Commission on the sentences imposed for all felony crimes sentenced in 2018.⁵ Note that this does not mean these crimes were also committed in 2018, and it is highly likely that many were committed in 2016 or before. However, we were able to use this data to present sentencing outcomes and examine variation in sentencing for each of the Sentencing Commission’s offense categories.

³ Felonies are crimes where the sentence may be one year or greater or where the D.C. Code explicitly identifies the offense as a felony.

⁴ Misdemeanor crimes are all crimes where the sentence is less than one year, where the D.C. Code explicitly identifies the offense as a misdemeanor, or offenses that are codified in the D.C. Municipal Regulations.

3. Felony crime incidents in the District of Columbia

Like most other jurisdictions, MPD reports crime two different ways. Primarily, it reports nine serious crimes that are defined in the D.C. Code (which it refers to as “D.C. Code Index Offenses”). This is according to District law and is how MPD officers classify offenses and make arrests. MPD relies on D.C. Code Index Offense information for daily operational and deployment decisions, and it is how crime information is shared with the public. MPD also generates crime data using guidelines developed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, known as the Uniform Crime Reporting System, or UCR. Our report specifically focuses on felony crimes which may or may not be captured among the D.C. Code Index Offenses. Therefore, the statistics in this report should not be compared with the statistics presented in MPD-developed reports and statistics (e.g., MPD Annual Report, website, etc.).

Table 1 shows the frequency of felony crime incidents in calendar years 2017 and 2018.⁶ There are two caveats in interpreting this data. First, a single crime incident may involve multiple offenses. However, due to the way crime incident data is structured, only the most serious (or “top”) felony offense is counted.⁷

Second, the raw data contains several hundred different offenses. We grouped these offenses into thematic categories to aid with interpretability. Our grouping strategy started with the offense categories typically reported by MPD; however, in some cases we further split out individual charges that occurred frequently (e.g., Failure to Appear stands alone as its own category because it is so frequent).

Some additional notes on the data in Table 1: Drugs, Failure to Appear, and Prostitution are only counted as a crime when there is an arrest. Therefore, these numbers may not reflect true instances of drug, failure to appear, and prostitution cases. The 156 homicide count captures the total number of unique CCNs with a homicide or negligent manslaughter offense and a 2018 offense report date. It is important to note that this is not the methodology used by MPD to generate the District’s official homicide count, which is the total number of cases based on: the date the incident was ruled a homicide (and not the offense report date); counting by victims (and not by CCN); and excluding negligent manslaughter. Put another way, MPD’s count of homicides reflects the number of actual victims, whereas for purposes of this report, we are counting the number of CCNs in which MPD determined in 2018 that at least one person was killed by another person. In particular, events later found to be homicides are not counted, while events later found to be justifiable self-defense and, therefore, not a homicide under District criminal law, are counted.

⁶ The 2017 results were drawn from last year’s report.

⁷ For example, if a homicide occurred during a robbery, the top charge would be the homicide. In Table 1, this event would increase the number of homicides by one but not increase the number of robberies.

⁸ Vehicle-related crimes are crimes where the involvement of a vehicle was the most significant factor. This includes offenses such as felony moving violations and driving under the influence.

4. Felony arrests in the District of Columbia

Table 2 reports the frequency of felony charges in arrests made by MPD during calendar years 2017 and 2018.⁹ Our MPD felony arrest data contains records of 6,463 adult arrests in which the individual was charged with at least one felony crime and was given a PDID. This includes 5,724 unique individuals (some individuals were arrested multiple times throughout the year) and excludes another 21 arrests in which the arrestee was not given a PDID. Because a single arrest may have multiple felony charges, Table 2 presents a sub-column A that tabulates all felony charges as well as a sub-column B that tabulates only the top felony charge. For example, if a person is arrested for both robbery and homicide, both charges are counted in A, but only the homicide is counted in B.

¹⁰ Escape from custody includes any event where a person who is in custody escapes (including from arrest).

Figure 2 shows the number of suspects and victims associated with each felony crime event. MPD identifies three classes of victims: people, organizations, and society. An event can involve multiple victims of different classes, as well as multiple suspects.¹¹ Of the 18,262 felony crime events in 2018, there were 13,037 in which the victim was a person. Of those, 10,236 involved a single suspect and a single victim. Of the remaining events, 1,621 involved multiple suspects and a single victim; 856 involved a single suspect and multiple victims; and 324 involved multiple suspects and multiple victims.

Notes: Victim and suspect data reflects the number of individuals who are identified as either victims or suspects in a felony crime incident. Only victims who are identified as people are considered here as opposed to situations in which, for example, a business property was burglarized; in those cases, the victim would be recorded in the data as a property.

The suspect data only reflects the suspects identified at the time the police report was filed, not people who were necessarily arrested. Cases where suspects were unknown at the time the police report was filed are counted as having one suspect.

¹¹ This report focuses only on incidents in which a person was the victim.

Table 3 presents the number of felony arrests made by MPD in 2017 and 2018 by ward and police district. The most arrests in 2018 occurred in Ward 8 (1,396 arrests), followed by Ward 7 (1,191) and Ward 5 (1,161). Nearly 58 percent of all felony arrests in 2018 occurred in those three wards. When examining police districts, 58 percent of all felony arrests occurred in the Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Districts.

Notes: Arrest location is based on the location where the arrest was made and may or may not be the location where the alleged crime occurred. "Unknown" arrest locations are locations where the arrest latitude and longitude coordinates were not captured. An arrest record carries a PSA and District if it is a DC Master Address Repository (MAR) verified address. Since an arrest address can be out of state (outside of DC MAR verification), officers have the ability to manually type in an address. If the address is not verified or is not located in the District, those records (usually about 2%) are coded as Unknown. MPD provided block level coordinates. Arrests that occurred near a ward boundary may not be completely accurate.

Notes: Arrest location is based on the location where the arrest was made and may or may not be the location where the alleged crime occurred. Note that 167 arrests lacked specific geographic coordinates and are not included in this map.

Table 4 presents demographic information about victims of felony crimes and people arrested on felony charges. Please note that our felony arrest records do not contain data on arrests of anyone under age 18, but the victim data does contain records of victims who are under age 18. Also please note that age data is self-reported and race and ethnicity data¹² are based on officer observations, and thus may contain some errors.¹³

Among felony crime victims, 58% were black and 29% were white. Among felony arrestees, 88% were black and 8% were white. Among felony crime victims, 9% identified as Hispanic or Latino. Among felony arrestees, about 5% identified as Hispanic or Latino. Among felony crime victims, 57% identified as male, while among felony arrestees, 82% identified as male.

While we have obtained data on an individual's prior arrest history with MPD over the last ten years, we do not have consistent data on convictions for either arrestees or victims. We can report, however, that among felony arrestees, 68% had multiple prior felony or misdemeanor arrests, 11% had one prior arrest, and about 21% had no prior arrests with MPD in the last ten years. Information on the level of education of victims and arrestees is not provided to MPD and therefore is not included in this report. This report also does not include analysis of any relationship between felony arrestees and victims because that information is not required to be provided to MPD.

¹² Race and ethnicity classifications are according to U.S. Census Bureau standards. In particular, ethnicity is either "Hispanic or Latino" or "Not Hispanic or Latino." Race is a separate field.

¹³ Arrestee age is calculated by MPD based on the number of days between the self-reported or verified date of birth (DOB) of the arrestee and the date of the arrest; DOB data may not be accurate, as it is self-reported. An arrestee may refuse to provide his or her date of birth. All ages calculated as 0-7 and 90+ are coded as "Unknown" per MPD's classification standard. Victim age is calculated based on the number of days between the date of the event and the victim's date of birth (not the offense report date). Data for victims include those under the age of 18, while data for arrestees include only those aged 18 and over. Arrestee race is based on officer observations, not on self-reporting.

Notes: Victims are people identified as victims in felony crime events. Suspects are people actually arrested on felony charges by MPD. Age bracket 0-17 is not included for arrestees because we do not analyze juvenile arrest data in this report. For arrestees with multiple arrests, the demographic information recorded is from the most recent arrest.

Table 5 lists the police district of residence for felony arrestees and victims in 2017 and 2018. It is important to note that home addresses of felony crime victims and arrestees may be based on a government-issued identification or may be self-reported and therefore the information may or may not be current and accurate. Victims and arrestees can also refuse to provide a home address. Also note that people experiencing homelessness may have their home address captured as the address of the shelter at which they are currently residing or as “No Fixed” or “Unknown.”¹⁴ In the former case, such people appear in Table 5 as residing in the ward of their shelter, in the latter case as Unknown.

Figure 4 displays the PSA of residence for felony crime victims and arrestees. Excluding victims from outside the District or whose PSA of residence was unknown, about 50 percent of felony crime victims resided in 18 of MPD's 56 PSAs. Of the top ten PSAs with the most felony crime victims, four were in the Sixth District (PSAs 602, 603, 604, and 608), two were in the Fifth District (PSAs 506 and 507), and four were in the Seventh District (PSAs 703, 704, 706, and 708).

Excluding arrestees from outside the District or whose PSA of residence was unknown, about 50 percent of felony arrestees resided in 10 of MPD's 56 PSAs. Of the top ten PSAs with the most felony arrestees, six were in the Seventh District (PSAs 702, 703, 704, 706, 707, and 708), three were in the Sixth District (PSAs 602, 603, and 604), and one was in the Fifth District (PSA 507).

Table 6 details the overlap between people arrested for felony crimes and people who received behavioral health services. Of the 5,724 felony arrestees in 2018 with unique police department identification numbers (PDIDs), the Department of Behavioral Health (DBH) confirmed that 979 of them had received services from DBH in 2018. These services could include outpatient behavioral health services, substance abuse treatments, or inpatient behavioral health services at Saint Elizabeths Hospital.¹⁵

Table 6. Number of people served by the Department of Behavioral Health in 2018 by service type who were also arrested on felony charges in 2018.

Type of service	Number of people

Substance Abuse Treatment	254
Housing Services	1
Psychiatric Residential Treatment Facilities	0
Total	1,113
Total number of unique people	979

Figure 5 plots the weekly volume of incidents reported in 2018 as part of MPD’s Crisis Intervention Officer (CIO) Program. MPD’s CIOs receive specialized training to handle calls for service involving persons suffering from mental or behavioral health issues. CIOs respond to incidents in which the person may or may not have committed a criminal offense, the officer may or may not arrest the person, and the person may be transported voluntarily or involuntarily for mental or behavioral health services. CIOs are trained to de-escalate the situation and encourage professional intervention while preventing individuals from becoming a danger to themselves or others. In 2018, 773 of these incidents were reported to DBH using MPD’s PD-251-C form.

¹⁵ MPD and DBH do not use a common identifier for arrestees and patients. We performed these matches based on name and date of birth. Moreover, for privacy reasons, we performed this matching using an algorithm that requires exact matches. Thus, we expect these numbers to be an undercount of the actual number of people who were both served by DBH in 2018 and who were arrested by MPD in 2018.

Note: Crisis intervention incidents refer to all incidents in which MPD transported an individual to a psychiatric treatment facility as documented by Form PD-251-C. Note that the first and last weeks of the year are short, accounting for the sharp jump at the beginning of the graph.

5. Adult misdemeanor and felony charges in D.C. Superior Court

Table 7 lists the frequency of criminal charges filed in D.C. Superior Court during 2018 and the dispositions of those charges. Importantly, these tabulations include both misdemeanor and felony charges. The available data indicated whether a case was a felony or misdemeanor case, but it did not distinguish whether each charge was a misdemeanor or felony. It is therefore impossible to tease the two charge types apart. Also, it is important to note that these analyses exclude three types of court records that are inaccessible: juvenile, sealed, and expunged records.

In 2018, a total of 21,335 (unsealed) criminal charges were filed in Superior Court across 11,580 cases. A total of 8,476 people were named as defendants in these cases. Of these cases, 3,170 were labeled as felony cases with 2,869 people named as defendants. Citywide, MPD reported that a total of 6,463 felony arrests were made. This suggests that a high percentage of arrests are never prosecuted.

Looking at all charges, 26 percent of charges filed in 2018 resulted in a conviction, 48 percent of charges were dismissed, 12 percent of charges remain open, and two percent of charges resulted in an acquittal. The remaining charges resulted in either a deferral or a diversion. Note that convictions may be obtained through means other than an explicit verdict of guilty. To give one example of how this could occur, consider that defendants may be “convicted” as part a deferred sentencing agreement. In such a situation, the charges remain open while the defendant completes a probationary period. Upon successful completion of probation, the charges may actually be dismissed. Assault, drugs, weapons, and other charges collectively accounted for 51 percent of all charges filed in Superior Court. There is notable variation in the conviction rate across charge categories. Assault charges resulted in a conviction 26 percent of the time, while robbery charges resulted in a conviction 49 percent of the time. Additionally, 60 percent of drug cases were dismissed, while 16 percent of homicide cases were dismissed.

Data source: DC Superior Court data management system (January 1, 2018 - December 31, 2018), provided in December 2019.

In 2017, the Superior Court arrived at a finding of guilt in 5,641 charges. Table 8 shows how these verdicts were reached. Almost 89% of convictions were reached by plea and 3% were reached through a jury trial.

The most common offense was weapon-related offenses, which had a median sentence of 12 months and a maximum of 1,290 months (10 years). For comparison, the median sentence for a violent offense was 24 months and the distribution has a long tail to the right with a maximum sentence imposed of 240 months (20 years). The median sentence for someone convicted of a drug offense in 2018 — the third most common offense in the Sentencing Commission data with 448 sentences — was less than a month¹⁶. Property-related offenses had a median sentence of 12 months, and sex-related offenses had a median sentence of 32 months (2.67 years). For the 72 homicides that were sentenced in 2018, the median sentence was 186 months (15.5 years) and the maximum sentence was 540 months (45 years). Note that in cases where an individual was convicted of multiple crimes, we do not know whether the sentences imposed are meant to be served consecutively or concurrently.

¹⁶ Mathematically the median for drug-related offenses was zero. In the absence of more specific information, we rounded to the month.

6. Monthly trends in felony crime

Figure 8 plots the number of felony crime events, arrests, cases, and convictions per week for 2018. As noted throughout the report, these numbers may not be entirely comparable due to such issues as the courts handling arrestees from other agencies, some arrests being handled by federal courts, and some arrests from 2017 or earlier being processed through the courts in 2018.

Figure 8. Number of felony crime events, felony arrests, felony cases, and felony convictions per week in 2018.

Notes: Crime events (blue), felony arrests (orange), felony cases filed in Superior Court (green), and felony cases in which the defendant was convicted of at least one charge are counted at the event (not charge) level (red).

7. Conclusion

The data collected for this report and the analyses we have presented are important steps in providing greater transparency into the District's criminal justice system. In creating data sharing agreements with several District and federal criminal justice agencies, we have laid the foundation for future efforts at deeper levels of research and analysis. In the coming months, we plan to release the 2018 felony arrest records as open data and release all the code used to generate this report. We appreciate the dedication and assistance of the Metropolitan Police Department, the D.C. Superior Court, the D.C. Sentencing Commission, the Department of Behavioral Health, and the Department of Corrections. Our ultimate goal is to have a criminal justice data management system in which everyone can work from the same set of facts.
